Raparin Technical and Vocational Institute

Dean Office

Dean Message

Dear Students, Teachers, and Staff,

I am delighted to welcome you to Raparin Technical and Vocational Institute (RTVI), one of the most distinguished technical and vocational education institutes in the Kurdistan Region of Iraq. As Dean of this dynamic institution, I am extremely proud of our dedication to developing the talents and skills of our diverse student body.

Raparin Technical and Vocational Institute is dedicated to providing an environment that encourages growth, innovation, and success. Our instructors will do their best to bring practical and real-world experience to the classroom, ensuring our students receive the most relevant and up-to-date education possible. Whether you want a career in healthcare, information technology, business, automotive, or electronics.

As we start on this academic journey together, always remember that your success is our top priority. Our devoted support staff is available to help you every step of the way, and our advanced facilities are geared to improve your learning experience.

I invite you to explore our website, learn more about our programs, and get in touch with our instructors and staff. Please feel free to contact us with any questions or concerns you may have. We are here to assist you in achieving your educational and professional goals.

Thank you for choosing Raparin Technical and Vocational Institute for your educational journey. We look forward to watching you grow, succeed, and make a positive impact in your chosen field.

Warm regards,

Assist. Prof. Dr. Salah Khoshnaw

Dean, Raparin Technical and Vocational Institute